The Ernest G. Welch School of Art & Design at Georgia State University seeks applicants for a full-time Lecturer position in Photography to begin August 2017. Pending budgetary approval, the salary will be $45,000 per ten-month academic year. We seek an exceptional artist and educator who will join our team of vibrant, creative professionals that includes 30 full-time faculty in art, design, and art history serving over 1000 art & design majors across nine separate disciplines. Screening of applications will begin February 15, 2017 and will continue until position is filled. (Any applications received after the deadline will only be reviewed in the event there are no viable candidates in the first round.)

Position Summary:
The core mission of all lecturers in the School of Art & Design is teaching; actively engaging undergraduate learning in survey classes fulfilling general education requirements is paramount. A normal teaching load for lecturers is 4/4. Both lower and upper division teaching will be assigned, inclusive of graduate level instruction or advisement for lecturers with graduate faculty status (i.e., with active research or professional practices). We seek a candidate who is an outstanding artist and an enthusiastic educator, with a strong desire to foster excellence in our students. The candidate must value working with diverse student populations and cultural perspectives. Additional summer teaching opportunities may become available for interested candidates. Lecturers may be assigned a variety of service roles, but will at a minimum be expected to serve on one departmental committee and to advise photography students. Exceptional service assignments may result in teaching workload adjustments.

Necessary Qualifications: An MFA in photography is required with a minimum of 1 year of university-level teaching experience beyond the terminal degree. Experience with diverse photographic practices is required, including analog and digital technologies. Knowledge of photographic history and an understanding of contemporary issues related to the lens-based medium is desired. Lecturers may maintain active professional careers and also participate in school service and governance. Qualified candidates will be capable of performing administrative duties and provide direction to the program. Program activities include a schedule of visiting artists, student exhibitions, scholarships and awards. Strong writing and speaking skills are required.

Georgia State University is an EEO/AA employer. Employment is contingent upon background verification.
